A Solution to Greenbrook Pond? Plan Saves Wetlands, Adds a Pond

by Virginia Beauchamp

Will Greenbelt be getting another lake? This question was considered by the City Council at its June 22 meeting.

In 1986 everyone thought so, as developer Michael Rose promised just such an amenity—a five-acre wet pond—as part of his landscaping plans for the Greenbrook development in Greenbelt East. Many of the homes in that development would face on a lake, he said. To be located south of Greenbrook Drive and east of Hanover Parkway, the lake would function as a stormwater management facility, but it would also be a visually appealing variation in the landscape.

But that was six years ago, and still no lake has been built. What in the world has happened?

Changes in Permitting

Unfortunately the timing could not have been worse. For just as these plans were being made and the permit process was working its way through the county's planning system, both the federal government and the state of Maryland were enacting new laws and regulations governing wetlands. These have since made it far more difficult to change a watershed. Thus the basis on which plans for a Greenbrook Lake would be reviewed by the appropriate agencies has changed, making it much less certain that permits for the proposed wet pond can be obtained.

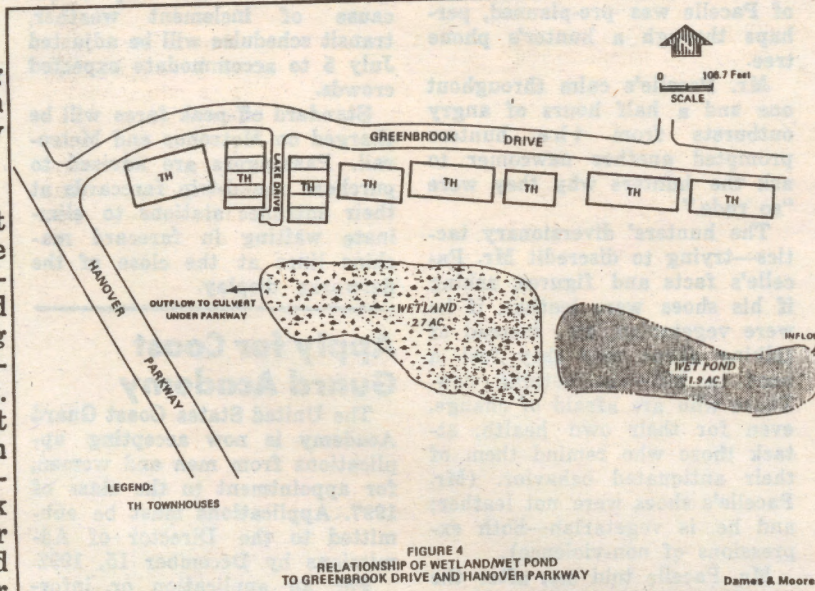

In light of these unforeseen difficulties, the city has hired the firm of Dames & Moore to help in sorting out which permitting requirements and which of several environmental impact designs should be pursued. A representative of the firm, Roger Copp, appeared at the meeting to share with the council possible avenues to proceed.

Everyone recognizes that something must be done, in any case, because of a potential for flooding if the present situation is allowed to remain. Currently, the culvert that provides drainage for the stream that flows through the wetland is clogged, causing the storage of water behind Hanover Parkway during and after heavy rains. Sometimes this water remains on site for as long as a month.

Though investigations have been made, no one has been able to determine how the water eventually disappears. Unfortunately, in the event of an unusually heavy storm, water would overflow Hanover Parkway; it could threaten as well several townhouses on Lake Drive off Greenbrook Drive.

Design Alternatives

According to Copp, three alternatives are being studied to improve the situation. The first would be to proceed with the original idea for a five-acre wet pond. Unfortunately, this option would eliminate five acres of wetland, which would have to be replaced elsewhere in the vicinity.

Any design calling for displacement of five or more acres of wetland triggers very intensive study, Copp said, making it very unlikely that permits could be obtained—less than a 10 percent chance, he claimed. In addition, replacing wetlands is very costly—from $50,000 to $100,000 per acre, Copp estimated.

Option two would be to redesign the project as a dry pond. With this option the area would look about the same as it does now; however, the culvert under Hanover Parkway would be replaced by a new culvert to avoid the potential of flooding. Dry ponds, however, have a liability because they can not be relied upon to remove as many pollutants as a wet pond and so the living plants and animals in the adjacent wetlands would be adversely affected.

Smaller Pond

The option that Copp, and later the councilmembers, deemed preferable would be a combined wetland-wet pond stormwater management system. Although perhaps not as attractive as the promised lake, the impact on the present wetland would be small. Only a limited area would be lost to the wet pond, and new wetlands would be constructed adjacent to those now existing, offsetting this loss. In addition, because the upstream wet pond would aid in reducing pollutants from urban runoff, the lower wetlands would benefit. (See accompanying draft design.)

The wet pond in this proposal would not be as large as the one originally proposed. Nor would it be located in the same place. As a result, some townhome owners who thought their homes would overlook water will have views of wetlands instead, while other homeowners will find that their homes will overlook a pond, if the plan is implemented.

Funding

Copp suggested that because a new plan could utilize "state-of-the-art" stormwater design techniques," state funding might also be available to reduce the overall cost of the project. Once permits for construction have been obtained for whichever option is eventually chosen, Prince Georges County will have the responsibility to carry out the actual construction.

The county's capital improvement program does not currently include funds for this construction. A primary concern of the Greenbelt City Council at the June 22 meeting was to approve a letter to be sent by Mayor Gil Weidenfeld to County Executive Parris Glendening, requesting that the county commit funds in the next budget for construction of this facility. The county has, however, already agreed to reimburse the city for the costs of preparing a new design.

Council also agreed to present the design alternatives for input from the Greenbelt East Advisory Committee and from the Advisory Planning Board and the Park and Recreation Advisory Board. At Copp's suggestion, they also agreed to invite George Chakhtoura, a state agent who works with Prince Georges County on wetlands issues, to attend these meetings and to keep in touch with the city as design alternatives develop.

July Fourth Festivities

The rockets' red glare, bombs bursting in air will give proof through the night that Greenbelt is celebrating Independence Day. The annual fireworks display will be held at Buddy Attick Lake Park on the night of Saturday, July 4.

In keeping with Greenbelt tradition, the Greenbelt Concert Band will perform at 7 p.m., conducted by John DelHomme and performing traditional patriotic selections. The fireworks display will start with a bang at dusk. Over 1,000 aerial displays will culminate with a grand finale and four ground displays: the American Flag, Battling Airplanes, Peace and Good Night.

City employee Kenny Hall will supervise the pyrotechnic show by Columbus Fireworks, for which the city has spent $7,000.

Caveats

During the celebration, the Lake Park parking lot will be reserved for the handicapped and the elderly. Parking restrictions on Crescent Road and other streets near the park will be lifted on July 4.

Police officer George Mathews cautions parents to "keep an eye on their children" during the celebration. He also warns that the Maryland law against individuals shooting off firecrackers and the ban on alcoholic beverages in Buddy Attick Lake Park will be enforced.

The outdoor swimming pool will keep regular hours on July 4, but the indoor pool will close early at 8 p.m. The Youth Center and the Springhill Lake Recreation Center will both close at 6 p.m.

American Legion

American Legion Post No. 136 will host its annual picnic from noon to 5 p.m. on July 4. Afterwards there will be a d.j. for dancing inside Legion Hall.

Children who come to the picnic must be accompanied by an adult. Games will include a moon jump, a dunk tank and pony rides. A jazz band will also be performing during the picnic.

Celebrate the Fourth At Springhill Lake

Springhill Lake will host its annual 4th of July event on the grassy area adjacent to the Fountain Lodge. Festivities will begin at 11 a.m. and end at 4 p.m. on July 4.

At noon, the winners of the Springhill Lake Poster Contest entitled, "I'll Remember My Prince Georges County Teacher Because . . ." will receive their awards.

The Fun Co. will provide a stage show featuring "Bingo the Clown and his Rhythmin' Rap," a Moonbounce, and a Dunk Tank. Other activities will include a wheelbarrow race, three-legged race and more. The Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts will be on hand to sell hot dogs, hamburgers and other refreshments.

Flag Day Presentation

A painting of the American Flag was presented to the Greenbelt American Legion Post No. 136 by the Toaping Castle Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The artist, Elizabeth Marshall, who is now deceased, was a Greenbelt resident.

Toaping Castle Chapter, DAR has strong ties with Greenbelt. The chapter was named for the home place of the Revolutionary War soldiers, Isaac and Nathan Walker. This property was located on Greenbelt Road in the Golden Triangle. The old Walker home was torn down around 1979, but the graveyard still stands near the Prudential building. The graveyard is part of a three-acre park that is owned by the City of Greenbelt.

Hunters & Greens See Red At Wildlife Fund Lecture

by Douglas L. Love

Soon after I opened the door to the Library Conference Room last Monday evening at 7 the hunters started arriving in small groups. They all knew each other and waited patiently as we handled our Labor Day planning business. They had seen our notice in the News Review announcing a speaker on hunting, and knew what to expect.

Hunters from as far away as Thurmont came to hear and discuss the ethics of hunting and related issues, and pick at the presentation of Wayne Pacelle of the Fund for Animals. I could tell that they were hunters. They were dressed casually, and many wore baseball caps. It was the bearing of these men and women that indicated a straightforward, no-nonsense approach to traditional American values. Of course, the literature on wildlife habitat protection by hunting organizations was a dead giveaway.

Then the vegetarians arrived. Confident, healthy, with eyes shining, they knew they were right, and were ready to make converts everywhere. Coordinator Nancy Hey announced Pacelle as soon as he came into the room, and I sat back to enjoy the show. As the discussion commenced during the lecture, the Green Coordinators made it clear by our inaction that we were not going to set ourselves up as authority figures before these impassioned debaters. They were as responsible for themselves in the library as they are in the woods. Heated words quickly gave way to fierce debate as speaker and hunters interrupted each other.

The Speaker

Pacelle introduced himself, then launched into the subject of the night, the concept that hunting is passe, and will soon be done away with along with cock fighting and bear baiting. The hunters picked at his lawyerly speaking style in an attempt to distance themselves from him culturally, although some of these good-old-boys are scientists from Goddard.

The Fund for Animals was started by Cleveland Amory of TV Guide 25 years ago, and has been active on the legal front as well as conducting public campaigns to outlaw hunting along with poaching and the shooting of pen- and zoo-raised animals. While there is a compelling moral argument to kill an attacking grizzly, willful invasion of the grizzly's territory to kill it for a trophy is another issue entirely, Amory's organization feels.

The order of the day was to find fault with the presentation of others.

Dueling Stats

The hunters distinguished between their carefully planned hunts of wild game and the game farms in Texas that provide trophies without sport. They also picked apart Pacelle's talk point by point, debating statistics on wildlife survival rates, state fish and game policies, and the make-up of state conservation boards. It became clear that both sides were able to use statistics to their own advantage.

Species such as deer are increasing. The doubling of the deer population in Calvert County in the last 20 years was an indication of a healthy environment to the hunters, and starving deer to the Fund for Animals.

Common Ground

One issue that came out in the end was the concept of vegetarianism. Some of the language got pretty strong, when one person said, "There is nothing masculine about taking a murder weapon out to terrorize an animal's home."

Some of the hunters praised the vegetarians for their stands. One said, "I'll fight to the death to protect your views, but don't impose them on me!"

Despite the worst efforts of the debaters, it became clear that there are many projects on which environmentalists of all stripes could work together. The hunting of predators such as wolves and mountain lions causes overpopulation of their prey, leading to either more hunting or more roadkills and starvation. Simply protecting endangered species from poachers would make both sides happy. One hunter stated that "a deer on the hood on I-70 is a despicable sight." Later he invited the non-hunters present to join him on a no-guns animal stalk, to experience the details of the wilderness arts. The vegetarians in turn invited everyone present to stop hunting and eat only vegetables.

The discussions of central nervous systems and raising wild versus domestic animals continued for an hour in the parking lot after the library closed.

Metro Fares Go Up

Metro fares changed on Sat., June 27.

The maximum fare was $1.40. creased from $2.85 to $3.15 per trip and this will raise the maximum rail fare for senior citizens and disabled riders to $1.55. the maximum fare was $1.40. Increase in the bonus for farecards of $20 or more to 10 percent Metrobus tokens were increase from $17 to $18 for 20 tokens.

In addition, Metrorail off-peak fares rose from $1, $1.25 and $1.50 to $1, $1.50 and $2, and most of the proposed Metrobus fare adjustments discussed at public hearings last March were adopted.

The new passes include: A rail pass for two weeks of unlimited travel that will cost $50; and a one-day rail pass for unlimited travel that will cost $5 and may be used on any weekday after 9:30 a.m. and all day on weekends. The family/tourist pass has been eliminated.

Hostile Hunters

To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Green's June 15 meeting at the library drew some 22 people, equally divided into hunters and non-hunters. The speaker was Wayne Pacelle from The Fund for Animals, a 25-year-old non-profit organization dedicated to environmental education and activism.

Pacelle had barely begun to speak when he was interrupted by one hunter who called Pacelle's information "lies." With several more loud interruptions, and a Greenbelt newcomer's frustrated urging that the hunters "let Mr. Pacelle speak," it was evident to me that this sabotage of Pacelle was pre-planned, perhaps through a hunter's phone tree.

Mr. Pacelle's calm throughout one and a half hours of angry outbursts from the hunters prompted another newcomer to ask the hunters why they were "so rude."

The hunters' diversionary tactics—trying to discredit Mr. Pacelle's facts and figures, asking if his shoes were leather, if he were vegetarian, etc., instead of talking about why they feel a need to kill—are nothing new. Those who are afraid of change, even for their own health, attack those who remind them of their antiquated behavior. (Mr. Pacelle's shoes were not leather; and he is vegetarian—both expressions of non-violence).

Mr. Pacelle told me, after the meeting, that he would not have accepted the Greens' invitation to speak had he suspected such hostility—not that he isn't used to hostile hunters—but that he had assumed the attendees were there to think and learn. Instead, Mr. Pacelle was greeted with closed minds and the greatest hostility I've experienced in my 17 years in Greenbelt.

For a definitive look at this subject, I urge Greenbelters to read "The Hunting Myth," by Ron Baker (1985) and "The Killing Game," by Joy Williams (Esquire Magazine, 10/90).

Apply for Coast Guard Academy

The United States Coast Guard Academy is now accepting applications from men and women, for appointment to the class of 1997. Applications must be submitted to the Director of Admissions by December 15, 1992.

For an application or information write: Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, 15 Mohegan Avenue, New London, CT. 06320; or call (203) 444-8501.

FIREWORKS: ILLEGAL

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele is warning Marylanders of the dangers in using illegal fireworks this year during the Independence Day holiday.

"Fireworks, for all their patriotic ties present very serious safety hazards," remarked the Fire Marshal. "Amputations, blindings and severe burns have all too often been the result of fireworks."

All types of fireworks are prohibited in Prince Georges County. The fine for possessing fireworks with the intent to discharge or for actual use is $250. A person found distributing or selling fireworks in the state may be fined $1,000.

Thanks for the Support

To the Editor:

Since the Committee to Save the Green Belt was formed almost five years ago, many people have contributed valuable time, effort, and finances in support of preserving Greenbelt's remaining woodlands. We'd like to extend a special note of appreciation to Allie and Adele Lee who have been generously sharing the fruits of their labor for the past few years.

If you look at the classified ads in the back of your News Review, you will see an ad for dog obedience training in which part of the proceeds are donated to the Committee. We greatly appreciate the support and hard work that goes into making these donations. Allie, an experienced dog trainer with great patience and compassion, not only has enhanced the quality of life for pets and their owners through his instructions, but has also contributed TREE-mendously to preserving our town's namesake.

Independence Day

It's families, flags and fireworks. It's barbecues, parades and a three-day weekend. It's a holiday with enough happening to keep my thoughts away from freedom. Two hundred sixteen year old freedom is not something I ponder normally. But this year is different.

While visiting my parents' home recently, I found a box of 50-year-old photographs of my father. They were taken in England around 1944 while he was doing what many Americans were doing at that time—putting his life on the line. In the pile of black and white shots of young servicemen standing beside airplanes, and shots of planes in fog on the ground or flying above the clouds, were some remarkable pictures of my father. Looking straight into the camera, he smiled shyly. They are remarkable because they hold that moment—that wartime, 21-year-old, frightening, possibly dread-filled moment—forever.

Not only remarkable was the content of these photographs, but of their existence, when so much gets lost or thrown out over 50 years' time. But that wasn't all I found. Lying next to the photos were two small leather books containing notes from all 37 missions my father flew.

What the snapshots hinted at, the diaries told. In that familiar scrawl he described flights over Germany, flak damage, a night in Paris stuck on the airfield, his B-24 so badly shot up they had to leave the squadron and land in recently liberated Brussels. There was more, and reading it brought the war home to me. It read like action; I could see my father in the cockpit. Then most remarkable of all, I looked up from reading and watched my father play with my children.

This Fourth of July isn't quite like the others. This year I'm thinking about freedom.

Tick Season Upon Us Warns Health Dept.; Beware Lyme Disease, Rocky Mt. Fever

"May through September are the most common months for tick bites to occur and the months when the onset of Lyme disease and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever is most often reported," advises Jack Grigor, D.V.M., M.P.H., Chief of the Department of Mental Health and Hygiene Center for Veterinary Public Health. Six cases of Lyme disease have been reported so far this year. Measures can be taken to prevent tick-borne illnesses.

Not all ticks carry the Lyme disease bacteria and the percentage that do may vary from area to area and year to year. Although prevention or early treatment is best, it is almost never too late to treat Lyme disease. All stages of Lyme disease can be treated with antibiotics. While untreated Lyme disease can have serious complications such as neurological or cardiovascular illness, and arthritis, it does not lead to death.

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever is different. Prompt treatment results in complete recovery. Untreated or delayed treatment can result in death.

There were 383 confirmed cases of Lyme disease reported in Maryland in 1991. Most tick bites do not result in any illness but health officials believe that many more cases of Lyme disease were not recognized or reported.

In 1991, 2 cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever were reported in Maryland. There have been no reported cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever so far this year.

Symptoms

The most common symptom of Lyme disease is a reddish expanding rash at least two inches across at the site of the tick bite. It often has a pale center. The rash may be accompanied by flu-like symptoms (headache, fever, chills, muscle or joint aches). If early signs are ignored, later phases of the disease can be severe. Anyone who develops the characteristic rash or other symptoms following a tick bite should see a doctor immediately.

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever begins with a fever of over 101 degrees within two weeks of being bitten by a tick. Severe headache, fever, general discomfort, and deep muscle aches are symptoms of the disease. Sometimes a rash on the palms of the hands and bottoms of the feet will appear on the third day.

Health officials advise that the best way NOT to get Lyme disease or Rocky Mountain Fever is to avoid grassy brushy or wooded areas this time of year where ticks look for animals to feed on.

What to Do

People who go into areas where ticks are found should wear long sleeves and long pants; tuck pants into socks and shirt into pants; wear broad-brimmed hats and light-colored clothing so ticks can be easily seen before they have a chance to bite.

People should make frequent full-body checks so that, if the tick is on them, it can be removed promptly. Biting ticks must remain attached on the body for at least 12 hours to transmit Lyme disease and three to four hours for Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. Biting ticks removed within these times prevents the disease.

The very best way to remove a biting tick is by using tapered tweezers and lifting the tick straight up from the skin. If tweezers are not available, use your fingers, protected by

Police Blotter

Based on Information
Released by the Greenbelt
Police Department

Two nonresident men, aged 22 and 31, were arrested and charged with battery and malicious destruction in the parking lot of Kangaroo Katie's (7500 block of Greenbelt Road) around 8:15 p.m. on June 18 after having knocked over a motorcycle onto a vehicle and having hit a person who had tried to detain them. Both appeared before a District Court Commissioner and were released pending trial.

On June 21 officers responded to a report of a fight in 71 Court Ridge Road and were told that a 36-year-old nonresident man used a 2 x 4 to break the driver's side door window and to injure the elbow (at the same time) of the person he had been fighting with. He was arrested and charged with battery. After appearing before a District Court Commissioner and being released pending trial, he was taken into custody by the Prince Georges County Sheriff's Department, as he had an open warrant with them for failing to appear in court.

A 25-year-old resident man was arrested on June 20 after he hit his five-months pregnant wife in the stomach in the 5900 block of Cherrywood Lane. He was charged with battery; he appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $1000 bond pending trial.

On June 19 officers responded to a report of a domestic argument in the parking lot of the 7500 block of Greenbelt Road and found that one of the people had two hypodermic syringes. A 42-year-old nonresident man, the person arrested and charged with possession of drug paraphernalia, appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $6000 bond pending trial.

While watching her child play in a courtyard in the 6900 block of Hanover Pkwy. around 7:45 p.m. on June 24, a woman noticed a man without clothing watching her. He is described as white or hispanic, in his 30s, 5'8", medium build, brown hair.

On June 17 a breaking and entering was reported at the Fountain Lodge Activity Center (200 block of Springhill Drive); money was stolen.

Greenbelt police recovered a stolen car in the 9100 block of Springhill Lane on June 21.

Craddock Graduates From FBI Academy

Chief James R. Craze announced that Lt. Michael D. Craddock of the Greenbelt Police Department graduated from the 169th Session of the FBI National Academy on June 12.

The National Academy, begun in 1935, is an eleven week training program conducted by the FBI for middle to upper-level law enforcement managers and executives from state, local and foreign law enforcement agencies.

Lt. Craddock, a 15½ year veteran of the Department, completed courses in police management, forensic science, behavior science, education and communications, physical training and specialized program instruction. Only one half of one percent of the law enforcement officers in the country attend the FBI National Academy. Lt. Craddock is only the second Greenbelt police officer to graduate from the National Academy. Chief Craze graduated from the 146th Session during the summer of 1986.

A white, 1987 Dodge Charger, MD tags XTJ208, was reported stolen from the 9100 block of Springhill Court on June 21.

A white 1986 Honda Elite motorcycle, MD tags 74464D, was reported stolen from the 9000 block of Breezewood Drive on June 24.

Vandalisms to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of autos were reported in the following areas: the 7800 block of Emily's Way, the 5900 and 6000 blocks of Greenbelt Road, the 7200 and 7700 blocks of Hanover Pkwy., the 7900 and 8000 blocks of Mandan Road, the 9100 block of Springhill Court, and the 100 block of Westway.

Legion Auxiliary Gives to Cancer

American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 136 has presented $656 to the American Cancer Society. These funds were raised when the Unit sponsored the Ms. Cherry Pie contest at Beltway Plaza in February chaired by Unit member Rusty Beeg.

The presentation was made during the annual "Americanism Night" at the post home on May 19.

Local Men Arrested On PCP Possession

On June 26 at 6 a.m. members of the Greenbelt City Police Department's Tactical Entry Team executed a search and seizure warrant at a residence in the 7900 block of Mandan Road, according to Pfc. George F. Mathews, spokesperson for the department.

The search and seizure warrant, along with an arrest warrant for an occupant of the residence, was obtained by the College Park/Metropolitan Area Task Force. The raid resulted in the arrest of two men, the seizure of a 1985 Nissan 300ZX, and the recovery of seven ounces of suspected liquid phencyclidine (PCP) with an estimated street value in excess of $2,600.

Arrested and charged with possession of PCP with intent to distribute, Mathews said, were Andre Albert Goodman, age 21, of 7909 Mandan Road No. 304 and Scott Eric Goodman, age 28, of 7909 Mandan Road No. 304. Both men appeared before a district court commissioner; Andre Goodman was held on $575,000 bond pending trial and Scott Goodman was held on $500,000 bond pending trial.

50 YEARS AGO NoCrimeProblem All Greenbelt Nite

by James Giese

March, 1942—Greenbelt Public Safety Director George Panagoulis in presenting his 1941 police report claimed that there is "no crime problem" in Greenbelt. Of the 189 arrests, only 1.5 percent were due to criminal offenses. Costs and fines amounting to $696.50 were collected, of which the town kept $308 and the county got the rest.

Panagoulis expressed the opinion that the reason for the absence of a criminal element was because of proper housing facilities and recreational opportunities. Several cases of breaking and entering by minors occurred, but the police department tried a more effective way to deal with these violators. Instead of taking the delinquent juveniles to court, their parents were consulted and the minors were, in every case, forced to pay for damages and loss.

Girl Scouts Tour Savannah, Birthplace of Scouting

by Karen Yoho

Greenbelt Girl Scout Troops 1161 and 3030 recently spent five days in Savannah, Georgia, visiting the birthplace of Girl Scouting.

The troop departed on Amtrak train 89 from Union Station on April 13, and about ten hours later, 35 scouts and ten adults arrived in Savannah. For many girls it was their first time away from home and the State of Maryland.

The scouts spent the first two days visiting sights around Savannah, including a walking tour of the historic city, where the Girl Scouts of the United States was founded by Juliette Low 80 years ago. On the first night, the girls were surprised when horse-drawn carriages pulled outside the hotel to take them on an extra-special moonlight tour of Savannah. The troops also went to Tybee Island and climbed up to the top of the Tybee Island lighthouse. Later that day, the group visited Fort Pulaski, a pre-Civil War fort on the Georgia coast.

The last day in Savannah, the girls spent time at the childhood home of Juliette Low. Operated by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., the birthplace offers a variety of hands-on learning programs for Girl Scout troops. The Greenbelt troops also had a special "pinning" ceremony in the courtyard and received patches for the activities that they completed while in Savannah.

The troops wish to thank all the Greenbelt residents and merchants who supported the girls' fund-raising efforts prior to the trip. It was a trip that we'll all remember for a long time. It was especially rewarding since Girl Scouts celebrate their 80th anniversary this year.

All the Girl Scout troops are now wrapping up their activities and taking a break over the summer. Any adults interested in working with troops beginning in the fall, should call Karen Yoho at 982-9626. New troops—all levels—are urgently needed for Greenbelt girls.

Discards for Schools

There is a creative recycling shopping list for Prince Georges County schools. Aside from the standard items such as paper and pencils, the county school system can use a variety of items, that would ordinarily be surplus or otherwise disposed. Some of the items include:

Aquariums (leaking is ok), stands, filters, filter media, books, pumps, lights, food. These are used in the science programs. Also needed are small animal cages and accessories.

The tech ed programs are looking for: counter tops, minimum 6 ft. lengths, used is ok; lawn mower engines (non-working is acceptable); and soldering pencils, wire, craft sticks, mouse traps, syringes (unused—non-sterile), Romex wire, electrical boxes, switches, outlets, plugs, outlet strips.

Various individual schools are looking for calculators, air conditioners, refrigerators, computers, 16mm projectors, filmstrip projectors, maps, blank videotapes, blank floppy disks, musical instruments. Furnishings for teachers' lounges and desks for teachers are also sought.

Persons having any of these items or something they think could be used by a school, should call Heinz Weverink at 627-2900. Transportation of the donated materials will be provided.

Department of Recreation City of Greenbelt, Maryland

Since May, 1992, Greenbelt's Park and Recreation Advisory Board, citizens and staff have been meeting to discuss the possible relocation of two existing outdoor basketball courts — 1) adjacent to the former Jaycee Club House and, 2) in the Lakewood Stream Valley Park. Recommendations for relocation and safer utilization of the basketball courts were submitted to the Mayor and City Council at their regular June 22 meeting.

Plans are on display at the Greenbelt Youth Center for citizen review and comments prior to implementation scheduled for July.

For additional information on these projects, contact the Greenbelt Recreation Department Business Office, weekdays, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., 474-6878.

Greenbelt Night Blackout a Success

by James Giese

On March 20, All Greenbelt Night was held at Center School. Tickets cost 28 cents including tax. A net profit of about $75 was reported as nearly 500 persons attended the annual affair. Mary Jean McCarl was crowned Greenbelt High School Queen. Her attendants were Carolyn Tompkins, Peggy Roby, Patty Day, Louise Burke, Helen Black, Marly Lowe and Hellen Zoellner. The evening included two basketball games and dancing to the music of a juke box, although the event had been advertised as having "a favorite local orchestra." The Greenbelt Girls beat Hyattsville, the boys lost.

Basketball Court Relocations Youth Center Renovations Considered by City Council

by Virginia Beachamp

As if to get her fellow Greenbelt City Council members in the mood for an agenda crammed with issues concerning the city's recreation program, councilmember Antoinette ("Toni") Bram started off the regular council meeting on June 22 by reporting that "two experts" had inspected the children's equipment at Schrom Hills Park and had graded it A plus. The experts, it turned out, were 8 and 10—the Bram grandchildren.

Other items of concern to the recreation program were a petition from residents in the Lakewood and Woodland Way developments to renovate or replace an existing basketball court in the Lakewood Stream Valley Park and to remove two existing public basketball hoops near the former JayCee Club House, a request from the city staff to authorize the first year's program of a projected three-year renovation of the Youth Center building and a briefing on plans for renovation of the original pool bathhouse to create a proposed fitness center. (See separate story.)

Basketball Courts

Following recommendations in a report from the Park and Recreation Advisory Board, the city's recreation director, Hank Irving, proposed relocation of the Lakewood Park court to the widest part of the park and at the furthest distance from nearby homes. Residents of the area have already approved such a location, he said. This court, which is hidden from casual visitors to Greenbelt, would be used primarily by neighborhood children, he assured council.

The half-courts near St. Hugh's, on the other hand, are widely used, both by schoolchildren from St. Hugh's, by children from the Camp Pine Tree program and by others attracted to the courts by their high visibility from Crescent Road. They are considered dangerous because they are placed too near a driveway. In fact, cars often park on the pavement of the courts.

Irving recommended moving children's playground equipment to other nearby locations and utilizing the vacated spaces for the new courts. These locations are preferred, he said, because of adequate drainage and their already level surfaces.

Council unanimously approved both proposals, authorizing immediate construction of the court in the stream valley park but requesting a two-week delay for citizen input on the courts near St. Hugh's.

Youth Center Renovation

Rather than carry out a proposed addition to the Youth Center building, which would have over-extended the capital improvements budget, council had earlier approved the hiring of the firm of Celantano-Esposito to study the present building to see whether it could be made more efficient in meeting the needs of the recreational program, as well as responding to new federal requirements under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) for handicapped access.

According to Celia Wilson, Director of Planning and Development, improvements from the Celantano-Esposito recommendations which would be carried out this year are: (1) creation of a women's locker room with shower, (2) renovation of the men's locker room, (3) a general facelift of the entire building, and (4) ADA improvements, including a handicap route from the parking lot to the building. These four improvements, together with charges for permits and fees, are expected to cost between $74,125 and $83,675.

Other recommendations, to be carried out in the next two years, will be renovation of administrative offices to utilize space more efficiently and a complete facelift of the interior of the building.

Council unanimously passed a motion authorizing the first year's program in renovation of the Youth Center.

New Program Helps With Spaying Costs

The Prince Georges County Veterinary Medical Association has developed a program offering low income pet owners a 50% discount on spay or neuter surgery at participating veterinary hospitals and clinics throughout the county. For information call 384-6978.

Our Neighbors

by Linda Savaryn, 474-5286

We are glad to hear that Walter and Leonie Penney of Northway, are both home from the hospital. Son Bernard from Boca Raton, FL flew up to provide much appreciated TLC while they were in the hospital. Daughter Olga and latest grandchild Joseph came out from Oregon to continue the care, whereas local son Walt covered weekends.

Yvonne Lynette Hurt of Arnold, Md., was selected for admission to the Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine for the fall 1992 semester. Currently a junior biology major at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Va., she is a member of Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity and chairman of the Special Olympics Committee.

Honors include being named outstanding new member of Gamma Beta Phi honor and service society, and election to Garnet and Gold Honor Society and Golden Key National Honor Society. She plans to complete the requirements for her bachelor of science in biology during her first year in veterinary college.

Yvonne is the daughter of Kendra and Jerry Hurt, former Greenbelt residents, and granddaughter of Ken and Pearl Keeney, Lakeside Drive.

JoAnne and Robert Janus of Lakecrest celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary at a surprise celebration at their son's home on Mandan Road. They were married on June 29, 1957 in Renovo, Pa. Once married, they moved to Maryland. They have been residents of Greenbelt for many years. They have one son, Craig Anthony. Congratulations JoAnne and Robert!
